CIS 121 - Quiz 5 - Wednesday, February 12, 2003

Name: ___________________________________ Student Number: _________________________

1. (2 pts) Consider the following code. Will there be a syntax error? Explain.

   `public class Test { public static void display(String string) {
       System.out.println(string);
   }
   public static void main(String[] args) {
       display(1);
   }
   }

2. (2 pts) Two ways to explicitly convert an int to a String are to use the_________________________ method from the String class or to ____________________ the int with an empty String.

3. (2 pts) When we create an applet we make an extension of ______________________ which is found in the ______________________ package.

4. (2 pts) In an applet tag we must list the name of the applet to be loaded and the_________________ and __________________ of the applet which are measured in ____________________.

5. (2 pts) Suppose we wish to draw a line in an applet from its upper-left corner to the midpoint between its lower-left corner and its lower-right corner. Fill in the parameters to drawLine.

   `g.drawLine(__________________________, ____________________________, ____________________________, ____________________________);`